MORRISVILLE AND HYDE PARK

L. H. LEWIS, Editor and Manager

Jean Jaures, a famous French socialist and editor, and leader of the anti-war party in Paris, was assassinated last Friday. There is none so unpopular just now among war-mad Europeans as peace advocates.

L. C. Moody, county clerk of Washington county, is acting judge of Montpelier during the absence of Judge Harvey. "Judge Moody" sounds well and shows that Lamoille county boys have a way of coming to the front wherever they may be.

In due season the members of the various parties in Vermont will nominate a candidate for the United States Senate. Republicans and Democrats will name such a candidate as a Vermont to represent Vermont in the councils of the nation. The third party, it seems, can name only such a candidate as has the approval of one man outside the state. When it comes to the nomination of a Governor the same thing is true. Will Vermonters prefer to nominate their own candidates or will they accept those with the Oyster Bay label?

Something Not to be Forgotten

Let it be remembered that if Germany permits a great war to devastate Europe, there are certain forces with which it must reckon at home, the power of which no man can estimate. The Socialist party is opposed to war. It recognizes the fact that the laborer is the one who pays its most terrible charges, both in money and in blood. Emperor William may find that there are stronger forces than artillery within his own dominion, and forces that he cannot so easily control.

An Effect of "The Big Stick"

A general war in Europe, while seemingly inconceivable after nearly forty years of peace, would be but the natural result of the policy which worshippers of "The Big Stick" would impose upon America. An individual cannot go swaggering about with knives and pistols in his belt without a temptation to use them, and nations cannot train great numbers of their citizens to the military life without a similar temptation. If European nations had gradually brought their armies down to a reasonable basis in the past twenty-five years no such fear as now shadows Europe would be possible.

The Cape Cod Canal

Though very small in comparison with the work at Panama, that which has brought to completion the canal now separating Cape Cod from the main land of Massachusetts is one that must greatly change the story of navigation. The canal, which was opened last week, not only greatly shortens the distance between Boston and New York, and between Boston and the Southern Atlantic ports, but it renders the journey far safer than it could ever be without such a sheltered passage. The Cape has always been a dangerous point in thick or stormy weather, and there has been a terrible toll of life in attempting to round it. Every Cape Cod burial place has memorials of such tragedies. The heavily laden and unwieldy coal barges have suffered especially in the passage. Now there will be safety.

Tin Soldiers

The papers are full of pictures of European emperors, kings, princes and dukes and war lords and generals, who, it is alleged, will lead the mighty armies of Europe in the event of general war. Garish uniforms, gold braid, decorations medals, furs and feathers and jeweled swords adorn these sons of Mars, yet probably not one of a hundred ever heard the sound of a hostile bullet. The wonder is where they acquired all the useless tinsel trappings which adorn their martial persons.

After the war has been in progress a few months, the painful discovery will likely be made that a tin helmet, plumes and strings of medals do not make a soldier. More likely the great military genius and conqueror will be some man now obscure who never wore a decoration or arrayed himself like the leader of a drum corps; some man like General Grant, who dressed like a private soldier and whose only decoration was a black cigar.

Commissioner Prouty in his public letter declared that Senator Dillingham has opposed all the efforts for the reform and control of railroads. Senator Dillingham comes back with a long letter in which he shows by the records that he has supported every measure of railroad reform legislation that has been before the senate. He also shows how on one occasion he saved Prouty from being legislated out of office. It is now Mr. Prouty's turn.—Bennington Banner

RHEUMATISM ARRESTED

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. To arrest rheumatism it is quite as important to improve your general health as to purify your blood, and the cod liver oil in Scott's Emulsion is nature's great blood-maker, while its medicinal nourishment strengthens the organs to expel the impurities and rebuild your strength. Scott's Emulsion is helping thousands every day who could not find other relief. Refuse the alcoholic substitutes.

Republican State Convention

The Republican State Committee has arranged for a Republican State Convention for the purpose of nominating state officers, to be held at Montpelier, Wednesday, Sept. 9th. Caucuses for the election of delegates will all be held on the same day, Thursday, August 27th.

Clement's Hat In the Ring

Percival W. Clement of Rutland announces his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor. In his announcement he states many things that are pertinent to the welfare of the State, and that should be in the Republican platform. If nominated he would "with pleasure join other Republicans in discussing with the voters of the State the Republican platform and the reason for the faith that is in us."

"If nominated, I will make a vigorous campaign for my election. If another Republican shall be chosen, I shall make a vigorous campaign for his election," says Uncle Joe Cannon.

Mr. Cannon may be a very wicked and sinful old man. He may be a hopeless reactionary, but he is a good sport. Obviously his claim that he is a progressive is one of his pleasanties. No true progressive ever supported a successful rival. He either organizes a third party or goes over to the opposition.

Prouty's Position

After much bucking and filing Hon. Chas. A. Prouty has consented to run for the United States Senate as a candidate for the Progressives. Mr. Prouty was very particular to announce to the meeting of Progressives that he had had an interview with Col. Roosevelt and that the Colonel would endorse him for the position. There's nothing like this "people's choice" business which is being worked so carefully. Certainly "let the people rule" but first see that you are entered with the endorsement of the "Boss" people.—Manchester Journal

McMahon about 29 years ago and was the first creamery in the county. Mr. McMahon and the late Van R. Chase conducted the business for six or seven years. The creamery was sold to C. E. Eddy in 1900 and transferred to H. W. Belden of Watfield several years ago, but was soon resold to Mr. Eddy. Mr. Belden again repurchased it in 1913.

Moody-Burt

Miss Barbara M. Burt of this place and Leo J. Moody of Minneapolis, Minn., were married at the home of the bride on Maple street, at 4 o'clock, Monday afternoon. The Rev. A. G. Cornwell, formerly of Stowe, but now pastor of the Park church of Elmira, N. Y., performed the ceremony, using the double-ring service. Rev. W. E. Baker, pastor of the First Congregational church of Morrisville, assisted in the ceremony. The parlor where the ceremony took place was decorated with maidenhair ferns, white asters and sweet peas. Mrs. L. L. Harris at the piano and Donald M. McMahon with cornet played Mendelssohn's wedding march during the entrance of the bride party, which was led by four little flower girls. Bridesmaids, Andrus Hamilton, Edna McMahon and Lillian Belle Burt, the bride's little niece, who came down the broad stairway bearing baskets of sweet peas and ribbons with which they formed an aisle from the foot of the stairs to a high bank of ferns and asters, the background for the bridal ceremony. The bride was escorted through the aisle by another little niece, Dorothy Burt, and Carlisle McMahon as ring bearers, each bearing a little flower-decked basket with a ring. During the ceremony the musicians played Cavalleria Rusticana.

The bride's gown was of white satin, trimmed with real lace and draped with beaded chiffon. She wore a veil of white up caught up with sweet peas, and carried a bouquet of bride's roses. After the ceremony refreshments were served in the dining room by the Misses Ruth McMahon, Mary Stone, Delma Webster, Dorothy Harris and Catherine Cole. The dining room table decorations were asparagus, Ward roses, ferns and clematis. In the library the decorations were Jack roses, sweet peas and ferns, and the bridal gifts, including articles of gold, silver, cut glass, china, fine needle work and pictures were here displayed. About 50 guests were present, among them the bride's brothers, C. O. Burt and W. O. Burt, and their wives, her sisters, the Misses Marjorie and Rebecca Burt, her grandmother, Mrs. Emma May, and uncles and aunts, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Norcross and children and Miss Olive May of Watbury Center and Mrs. Frances Wright and Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Burt; the groom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. R. Moody of Stowe, sisters, Mrs. D. C. Scribner and son, Russell, of Biddeford, Me., and Mrs. W. H. Faunce and three sons of Providence, R. I.; the brother, Jesse Moody of Bethel and Glenn F. Cole and children of Stowe.
